VOL. VI.....NO. 1742. NEW-YORK, MONDAY, APRIL 20, 1857. PRICE TWO CENTS.

on a Committee of seven, (still the magical number in which the "Old Washees" professes great faith,) consisting of the following members, was appointed to nominate a ticket, to be supported by all in favor of reform—namely: Nelson J. Waterbury, Abram S. Hewitt, Jacob Brush, (one who had originally signed the Chinese circular,) M. L. Bryant, R. S. Hart, Wm. Minor and Sam. Allen. This Committee were to report on Saturday evening, to which time the Weathersfield adjourned, in the best possible spirits.

On Saturday evening the Reformers again assembled at their head-quarters to receive report of the Nominating Committee—and this was made by Mr. WATERBURY, their Chairman, who proposed the following ticket:

Isaac V. Fowler, P. M. C. G. Gunther, (Schell.)
Joseph M. Marsh, (Schell.) T. B. Tappan, (Schell.)
Wm. W. Kennedy, (Schell.) Edward Cooper, (Schell.)
John McKeon, (Schell.) Sam. J. Tilden, (Sch.)
Peter B. Sweeny, (Schell.) Chas. A. Peshine, (Sch.)
Elijah F. Purdy, (Schell.) Wm. H. Cornell, (Schell.)
E. R. Hart, Surveyor.

It will be seen that on this ticket there are nine of the Collector's friends. Mr. G. therefore declining wholly repudiated the Chinese movement, and refused his name for their ticket, as will be seen by his answer to their Committee's invitation to allow them to make him a candidate:

GENTLEMEN: The ticket nominated at the Chinese Assembly Rooms last evening does not meet my approbation, and cannot receive my support.

Yours, &c., C. GODFREY GUNTHER.

18th April, 1857.

The ticket nominated was discussed at great length, and a general desire was expressed to have Messrs. DUNLAP, FREDERIC, CONNER, COCHRANE and ADAMS put on in the place of some of those named; but those gentlemen magnanimously refused to take any action which would prevent the unanimous accept. ance of the Committee's report, and the ticket was accordingly adopted without a dissenting voice. THOMAS W. ADAMS thereupon proposed three cheers for the entire ticket, which were given, with a "tiger" added, and the meeting broke up.

INCIDENTS.—When the motion for appointment of Conference Committee was made in the Chinese gathering, Mr. WOOD, who was on the stage pulling the wires, complained of sudden sickness in the stomach and declined to act: but when the time came to appoint a Nominating Committee, he suddenly recovered his vigor, and took charge of the whole business with delightful exuberance, and managed with his usual success.

We learn, also, that there was danger of the Chinese movement having a fatal termination—the particulars of which, as near as we could learn from Denny O'Brien, his Honor's coachman, are as follows: The meeting adjourned at 5 A. M., and Mr. WOOD offered to drop Mr. SCHELL at the latter's house in Twenty-first-street. When the coach had reached the corner of Fourteenth-street and Broadway, opposite the big gas-light, Denny heard a shuffling of feet, attended by a gurgling sound, proceeding from within the vehicle. Suddenly descending, and opening the carriage door, he found Mr. SCHELL, nearly black in the face, and struggling in the arms of his Honor. It seems that Mr. WOOD had been seized with a sudden paroxysm of affection, and throwing his arms about him, gave him a hug which was attended with the result stated. Mr. SCHELL was immediately carried into the open air, and on examination it appeared that he was seriously, if not fatally injured in the back-bone. He has been very weak in the legs ever since, and his friends fear that he will never be himself again. Cannot anticipate on to state that we have not full confidence in the accuracy of this information.

Action Upon the New-York Difficulties.

Heated Quarters—Startling Rumors About the Collectorship—Mayor Wood in an Extra.

Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, April 19.

The New-York difficulty seems in a fair way of adjustment. Mr. R. J. WALKER, who visited your City at Mr. BUCHANAN'S request, at soon as the unfortunate results of Mr. SCHELL'S measures began to develop themselves, was telegraphed to adopt summary means to arrest the disorders before they had reached a point beyond the control of the Administration—as was the case under BROOKSON. Accordingly negotiations were opened between Mr. R. J. WALKER and Gov. SEYMOUR, who is on with you, and at the instance of the latter, DAN. S. DICKINSON was immediately consulted with the view to a general compromise, based upon just principles. The result is that Mr. DICKINSON and Gov. SEYMOUR, the recognized leaders of the old Hard and Soft Parties, DEAN RICHMOND, Chairman of the State Central Committee, PETER B. SWEENY and JOHN KELLY, Hard and Soft members of the State Committee from the City of New-York; CHARLES O'CONOR, AUG. SCHELL, SAM. J. TILDEN, JOHN MCKEON, ROBERT J. DILLON, HORACE F. CLARK, late Chairman of the Stuyvesant Institute Committee, and WILSON SMALL, Chairman of the Wood Committee, have been, or are to be, summoned to Washington with reference to the programme settled upon between DICKINSON and SEYMOUR.

It appears that Mr. SCHELL, having brought such a storm about him by his well-meaning attempt to heal the difficulties, and despairing of being able to unite the support of the whole party, is willing to make any personal sacrifice which the good of the party may call for, stipulating only that the distinct recognition of the Hard-shells shall be maintained. Accordingly, it has been arranged that Mr. SCHELL shall have any foreign appointment that he may select, except France and England, which are already pledged to SICKLES and GRAHAM JONES in compensation for their cabinet disappointments, and Mr. ROBERT J. DILLON is to be offered the Collectorship. Mr. DILLON, possessing a princely income, and having made arrangements for a family tour to Europe on the settlement of a very important will case in which he is now engaged, hesitates to accept the responsibilities and almost heedless complications attending the division of federal patronage; but as SICKLES will not resign unless DILLON or MAYNER, who is out of the question, takes his place, Mr. DICKINSON hopes to be able to coerce Mr. DILLON'S acceptance. Mr. DILLON, from his high capacity, unquestioned standing, and the independent position he occupies, respected by all parties, would be able to assume an attitude and command a support such as no other man in the State could combine, and would possess a power that would either fuse or eliminate all the refractory elements.

Mr. BUCHANAN is very warmly attached to Mr. SCHELL and regrets that Mr. S. should have proved unequal to the task confided; but all personal considerations must yield to State necessities, and the Executive declares that honesty is the policy of his Administration. Mr. CROSWELL, who came on here to give his version of the alliance with WOOD, called at the White House yesterday afternoon, but was unable to have a private interview with Mr. BUCHANAN, Judge BLACK and Mr. TOUCEY remaining in the room at Mr. B.'s request.

The grand gathering of the various New-York chieftains, before referred to, will probably take place next Wednesday, when it is to be hoped that the Convention of so much talent, wisdom and patriotism, representing so much party-power, and under the direct auspices of the Executive, will produce a result that will tend to a permanent settlement. If Mr. DILLON accepts, the distribution of the Federal patronage will be governed by a council in which all the Federal officers of the port will participate, except the District-Attorney and Marshall, who are Judicial officers and therefore have no connection with the spoils.

Mr. B. is desirous of including Mr. WOOD in the settlement and will offer him the position of Minister to Russia—formerly filled by HENRY CLAY and JOHN Q. ADAMS, which, it is understood, would be acceptable in consequence of his desire to resign under the new Charter.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Transit Across the Tehuantepec Isthmus—History and Present Position of the Question.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, April 17, 1857.

The President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney-General have all been engaged, at numerous times during the week, on the consideration of the proper move for obtaining possession of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, or at least of securing to our citizens and to the Government the right of way across that Isthmus. The subject has been much neglected by the Government during all their negotiations with Mexico since 1846, when, under Mr. POLK'S Administration, Mr. TRIST was instructed to offer an additional fifteen millions to Mexico for accession of that Isthmus. The Mexican Government declined the offer for the reason that the right to use the Isthmus had been granted to an English company, through GADOY, and was in the hands of the house of McINTOSH & Co. There was then a probability that English capitalists would unite fully to construct a railroad across the Isthmus.

This plan failed, and the grant fell into the hands of HARGOUS and his associates, who organized a Company, of which Mr. BENJAMIN, of New-Orleans, was the President.

This Company proceeded with the work under their very liberal charter, but were interrupted and forcibly ejected from the Isthmus by the Mexican Government, which Government annulled the grant.

Mr. WEBSTER, when Secretary of State, instructed Mr. LETCHER, our Minister to Mexico, to insist upon the execution of the contract with the Garay Company, contending that the contract was with American citizens, who were entitled to the protection of this Government.

The Government of Mexico persisted in their refusal, and pointed to the legal remedy which our citizens had for any supposed violation of their contract, —that is, by suing the Government in the Mexican Courts.

Pending this controversy Colonel SLOO, through his agent, Colonel LEE, in Mexico, stepped in and obtained the grant of the right of way across the Isthmus, and also the exclusive right of the navigation of the Coatzacoalcos River. This was called a mixed company, Mexico was being admitted as partners, in order to satisfy national pride, and remove the objections made against a foreign Company. The sum of $600,000, as a bonus to the Mexican Government, was paid by Colonel LEE to the Mexican Government upon the execution of the contract.

This money was borrowed from Mexican brokers represented by Mr. FALCONNET, upon drafts drawn upon Col. SLOO. These brokers thought that if the transit was worth fifteen millions to the United States, it would certainly be cheap at six hundred thousand dollars. They took a mortgage upon the grant itself as their security. The drafts were returned protested and dishonored, and without any hope of payment, much to the chagrin of the money lenders. This claim, with damages, interest, &c., has swelled to the amount of a million of dollars.

The treaty made by Judge CONKLING, and which he vigorously defended, secured this grant by the guarantee of the United States Government, which treaty was utterly repudiated by the President, and was not sent to the Senate except in answer to a special call for information, and was not acted upon by that body.

The Guadalupe treaty, as negotiated in Mexico, admitted the validity of the claim of the Garay or Hargous Company, and provided for its payment. This was stricken out by President PIERCE, before he communicated it to the Senate, which body struck out from it everything relative to private claims.

The friends of Colonel SLOO had sufficient influence in the Senate to obtain the insertion in the Treaty of the eighth article, which, without reviving the Sloo grant or the Sloo Company gives the United States the right, when they see proper to interfere for the protection of the persons and property of American citizens upon the Tehuantepec Isthmus.

The Sloo contract required that the Company should complete a plank road across the Isthmus, and have it in traveling order for passengers &c., by the 5th of February, 1857, and that the railroad be commenced within one year from that date.

Col. SLOO made contracts with a Sheffield house for both roads, and the work was hardly begun before it was abandoned, in consequence of the death of the principal contractor, who was lost in the Arctic.

Mr. FALCONNET, as agent of the bankers in Mexico, attached Col. SLOO'S interests in the U. S. Pacific Mail Steamer line, but got nothing by it. The creditors finally assigned their mortgage upon the Sloo grant to Mr. HARGOUS, who now holds it, and has been urging the Mexican Government to put him in possession of the power here.

He makes three demands upon the Government o Mexico: First, the specific execution of the original Garay contract; second, ample indemnity for its violation—say $5,000,000; and third, the surrender to him of the Sloo franchise, under his mortgage.

If the Mexican Government refer the question to the Judiciary, as HARGOUS has expected and insisted, the the mortgage will be foreclosed. This is the more certain from the reason that the Chief-Justice, TANEY, is a friend and partisan of HARGOUS, and an opponent of the Sloo grant.

A notice was given in due form by the Sloo Company to CONSONOFF'S Government, that a common road was finished across the Isthmus before the 4th of February, and that Mr. TRIMBLE had driven a horse and sulky over it. It has been doubted whether CONSONOFF would consider this as sufficient. Different rumors have prevailed in regard to his decision. But yesterday the Vice-President of the Company, now in this city, received a telegraphic dispatch from New-Orleans, stating that a special messenger had arrived there from Mexico, bringing the official notice of the acceptance, by President CONSONOFF, of the road as a fulfillment of the contract. I have no reason to doubt this; but we shall know whether it is so or not. The fact is of great moment, and will influence the action of this Government on the subject.

Supposing the fact to be so, the next step for the Sloo Company to take is to provide for the commencement of the railroad and its completion within the contract term. To effect this, the Company must first settle their own disputes, which threaten its dissolution, or at least to paralyze its action, and destroy its credit.

The Company, at the last annual election of President and Directors, removed Col. SLOO from the Presidency, and substituted Mr. NICOLL of New-Orleans. The new Direction went on with the common road, which is now opened, and made contracts for stocking it with lines of stage-coaches, &c. Col. SLOO applied to the Courts at New-Orleans for an injunction against the action of the new Board of Directors on account of alleged illegality of the election, which case is yet to be decided. A new general election will take place this month, when Col. SLOO may be replaced.

Meanwhile, Colonel SLOO has notified the Company that the right of the navigation of the Coatzacoalcos River does not belong to, and cannot be used by them, and is exclusively vested in himself. Without the river navigation the transit is worthless, and until this difficulty be settled, no capitalists will venture their money in the construction of the railroad.

The new Administration have become aware of the importance of securing the right of way for the Government and citizens of the United States across the Tehuantepec Isthmus, practicably as the most salubrious and expeditious travel, and as the other two inter-oceanic travels are given up to Filibusterism, or to pirates, mobs, &c., it is not be supposed that the Panama Isthmus will be kept open after this Government shall resort to the coercive measures now in contemplation.

How to secure the right of way is now the subject of their inquiry. They have determined to make some attempt that way, through a new treaty, which Mr. FORSYTH is to be instructed to negotiate. They have sought information as to the "actual condition of the Tehuantepec Transit,"—the same information which you ask for in your paper of Thursday, and which I have given you in brief.

The agents and attorneys of the Hargous Company and the Sloo Company have been engaged in enlightening the members of the Administration in reference to their own respective claims and conditions. Each of these parties informs the Government that its own particular scheme and contract must be enforced, and that it will serve all the purposes of the Government and the public.

The Attorney General is carefully considering the whole subject.

FROM HAVANA.

Arrival of the Black Warrior.

NEWS FROM MEXICO—CENTRAL AMERICAN NEWS —THE MEXICAN QUESTION—MISCELLANEOUS.

The United States Mail steamship Black Warrior, J. W. SIDNEY, commander, sailed from New-Orleans at 6¼ A. M., arrived at Havana at 1½ P. M. Sailed from there at 6 P. M. the same day, (14th inst.) and arrived at this port at 6¾ A. M. yesterday morning, making the entire run from New-Orleans to New-York in 2 days 10 hours.

From Havana, we have to report the Island Reality. Heavy rains have injured the Sugar crop. Sugars have advanced, owing to the anticipated shortness of the crop as compared with last year's. Stock at Havana, 100,000 boxes against 200,000 at the same time last year. Muscovadoes are quoted at from 10 to 12 rials per arobe. The market is very much excited. Money plentiful. Exchange improving. Freights very dull.

The United States ship Saratoga was in port.

April 16, lat. 37° 24' N., lon. 74° 24' west, spoke brig Favorita, steering south, her deck lined with men. The captain reported bound to Honduras.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

HAVANA, Tuesday, April 14, 1857.

The two last steamers from Mexico have brought nothing interesting in the news line. The country in general may be considered quiet except in the northern Provinces, where the Indians are committing great ravages. The new Constitution had been published in nearly all the Departments, and gave general satisfaction, except to a very few of the old-school who had refused to take the oath of allegiance, and were removed by COMONFORT in consequence thereof. The Spanish organ, published in the City of Mexico, was suppressed for publishing seditious articles. The greater part of the pronounced Generals were at Mexico, awaiting their trials. The only one yet not taken was MEJIA, who had some three hundred men under his command, in the mountains. The news of the failure of FORSYTH'S treaties seems to have disconcerted the Administration. Such a result was not anticipated, as COMONFORT relied on those funds for his election to the Presidency under the new Constitution. Private advices state that he was leaving no stone unturned to effect some arrangement with FORSYTH, by means of which he might command funds to buy popularity with the masses of the Mexican people.

The United States sloop of war Saratoga has just arrived from Greytown, and confirms the previous advices of WALKER'S being in a very tight place. The general impression is that he cannot hold out much longer, unless he receives powerful aid from some source. The "hero of Kessuc," Col. TITUS, who was represented by Southern journals to be capable of doing marvelous deeds, has turned out to be about on a par with the rest of the adventurers who have gone to Nicaragua, who are always crying out victory, though they always retreat and lose ground. It would be well for BUCHANAN to send a national vessel into these waters, for the purpose of giving protection and a free passage to all who may be tired of the ingrateful task of civilizing the benighted Central Americans. People in this part of the world are well convinced that what has been enacted in Nicaragua would have been done here, had the filibusters have succeeded in getting the upper hand. Civilization, just laws and a firm government are great blessings, but not when administered by the lawless hordes that have cursed the soil of Nicaragua.

General CONCHA has received official intelligence of his appointment as commander in chief of the army of invasion. Generals ESTRADA and MENDIMUETA will act under his orders. Two thousand men are now under weigh for Cuba. The Spanish Government will also send a naval division to the Pacific, in order more easily to reach ALVAREZ, the prime mover of all these disturbances. Señor LAFRAGUA had reached Madrid, but nothing had yet transpired of his instructions, or what concessions the Spanish Government would be willing to make. I have been informed that CONCHA has received some very important dispatches from the Spanish Minister at Washington, in reference to the Mexican question, that will make him act with the greatest precaution in this delicate matter. The bearer of these dispatches, a foreign Minister, is here now, and he has expressed his opinions quite freely on the subject. His long residence at Washington, and intimate knowledge of the American people, give his words a weight that no other could have. Still Spain keeps up all the appearances of a warlike disposition, but this may be only for effect at home.

The Vestvali Opera troupe, lately from the City of Mexico, have arrived and will give a few performances at the Tacon. Col. WOOD with his Russian curiosities is also here and doing well.

Fever of a Drow Dead—The Mate Arrested

The United States District Attorney, and the United States Marshal were engaged on Friday and Saturday last, receiving affidavits charging LUMAN, the chief mate of the American ship Middlesex, with inflicting cruel and unusual punishment upon one of his crew named WILLIAM SMITH, and planning his arrest. Four of the crew, who died during her late voyage from Liverpool, are thought to have received harsh treatment. LUMAN was held in the sum of $500, to appear for examination before a Commissioner on Saturday afternoon, but it was decided to lay the case before the United States Grand Jury immediately, and consequently the proposed examination did not take place.

The Filibusters and the Tennessee.

In our account of a dinner given by a brother of Col. FRANK ANDERSON, to a number of the filibusters who returned in the Tennessee, it was stated that they had received no food for twenty-four hours previous. Several gentlemen who came passengers in the Tennessee, have called to say that the Reporter was misinformed, and that such was not the case; that there was an abundance of food, and that owing to the small number of cabin passengers, fresh provisions were served in the steerage during the entire voyage—which is what steerage passengers seldom get. On the passage out resolutions of thanks for kind attention, were passed unanimously in favor of Capt. PATTERSON, and the Purser, Dr. HAYDE. They state that they were as well cared for as when sailing with her old commander, the deservedly popular Capt. TINKLEPAUGH.

The Nicaragua Head-quarters Abolished.

ALEXANDER C. LAWRENCE, Esq., is about to close up the well-known St. Charles' Saloon, of which he has been proprietor for the last seven years, and retire from the business. The St. Charles is somewhat celebrated as the favorite place of reunion of filibuster spirits. Those heroes of many a well fought musquite and "jigger" engagement in Nicaragua, who used to congregate there in bright regimentals, and discuss WALKER'S "last" brilliant victory, over "Sandy's" ale, must now look out for another rendezvous. Mr. LAWRENCE has taken a lease of the St. Charles' building for a period of five years, and will still retain an office there as Nicaraguan agent. Mr. GOSLING, the restaurateur, has engaged the first floor and basement, and will soon remove his business thither.

Citizens.

Gov. (of Kansas) ROBERT J. WALKER attended a meeting of the Clionian Society of the Free Academy on Friday evening last, at No. 2 Clinton Hall, on which occasion the pro's and con's of the Dred Scott decision of the Supreme Court were considered. Messrs. WEBSTER and SULLIVAN arguing against, and Mr. WHEELER in favor of its binding force upon the people of the United States. The Governor is an honorary member of the Clionian.

AFFAIRS IN THE EAST.

Latest Intelligence from the Persian Gulf—Battle between the British and Persian Troops on Kushab, near Bushire—Defeat of the Persians—General Outram's Dispatches—List of Ordnance and Stores Captured—Reception of the News at Bombay—Rumors of Peace—Commercial Intelligence—Freights, &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

BOMBAY, Thursday, March 5, 1857.

The Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamer Bombay will depart at 5 o'clock to-morrow morning, with mails and passengers for Aden and Suez. I embrace the opportunity to send you an account of the recent battle between the British and Persian troops near Bushire, which is the first field collision between these hostile forces since the commencement of the campaign.

The news of this battle reached us day before yesterday by the steamer Victoria, which arrived direct from Bushire, bringing dispatches from Lieutenant-General Sir JAMES OUTRAM, commanding expeditionary force in the Persian Gulf, to Sir JAMES GOODWIN, Commander-in-Chief at Bombay. I enclose portions of General OUTRAM'S dispatch, published in the Bombay Times this morning, which you will find to be interesting:

CAMP NEAR BUSHIRE, Tuesday, Feb. 10, 1857.

SIR: I have the honor to report a signal victory over the Persian Army, commanded by SHUCKAUL-MOOLK in person, on the 8th instant.

The enemy's loss in killed and wounded must have been very great. It is impossible to compute the exact amount, but from the number of bodies which strewed the ground of contest, extending several miles, I should say that full 800 must have fallen. Two brass 9-pounder guns, with their carriages and horses, 3 mules, laden with ammunition, and several hundred stand of arms, were taken; and the Persian Commander-in-Chief, with the commander of his Army, only escaped annihilation owing to the numerical weakness of our Cavalry.

The loss on our side is, I am happy to say, comparatively small, attributable to the rapid advance of our Artillery and Cavalry, and the well directed fire of the former, which almost paralyzed the Persians from the commencement.

The circumstances preceding this satisfactory termination of a brief but arduous campaign, I now proceed to detail:

On the 27th ult., I landed at Bushire, and assumed the command of the army. The exact preparations of the Persian Government for the Bushire then come to my knowledge. SHUCKAUL-MOOLK, who commanded the Persian troops, had assembled a force, said to amount to 8,000, at the town of Borasjoon, 45 miles distant from Bushire, and entrenched his position. This army was well supplied with food and ammunition, of which considerable magazines had been collected. It was intended that this force should form the nucleus of a very large army to be assembled for the reconquest of Herat.

The 1st Brigade 2d Division, which arrived on the 21st ultimo and 1st instant, was landed by the 2d, and on the arrival of the 3d, the troops consisting of 400 Sabres, 4,300 Infantry (of which 1,500 were European) encamped by the ordinance train of 12 guns, marched from this camp without tents or any clothing of any sort, save a mere carpeting for great coat, blanket, and two days' cooked provisions. The Commissariat being provided with three days' in addition; the protection of the camp and town of Bushire being duly provided for by a detachment of troops under the command of Lieutenant Colonel BARNARD, reinforced by a party of seamen from all the ships in the harbor, which the senior naval officer was so good as to place at my disposal.

After a march of 46 miles in 41 hours, during which the troops were exposed to the worst of weather, cold nights, and drenching storms of rain, they neared the enemy's entrenched position on the afternoon of the 8th, and found it abandoned; the enemy on hearing of our approach, had evacuated his intrenchments the previous night and precipitately; that their tents and camp equipage and ordnance magazines were left behind. The former were being rapidly carried off by village plunderers operating for some hours before we arrived. I endeavored to intercept the retreat of some of the "Bilitaneh" Horse, who had held the camp during the night, and were still in sight, and a little skirmishing took place, but eventually they made off.

The enemy having succeeded in withdrawing their guns to the strong passes, where I did not deem it prudent to follow them, and being satisfied with the moral effect of our occupying their position for two days, I decided upon moving the troops back to Bushire. The return march was accordingly commenced on the night of the 7th, first destroying their magazines, found to contain about 40,000 lbs. of powder, with small-arm ammunition, and a vast quantity of shot and shell, and carrying away large stores of flour, rice, and grain, which the Persian Government had been collecting for a long time past for their army; thereby effectually crippling their future operations. Some of their guns are supposed to have been cast into wells, and as their wheels and axles fell into our hands, it will be impossible they can be used again for the present.

At midnight an attack was made upon the rear guard by the enemy's horse, and parties threatened the line of march on every side. The troops were halted, and so formed as to protect the baggage, and resist the horsemen in whatever direction they might attempt to charge. Four of the enemy's guns of heavy metal opened their fire upon the column, whilst the darkness of the night prevented any steps being taken to capture them. I should here remark that, on abandoning their position, SHUCKAUL-MOOLK, with his force, had taken the direct road to Shiraz by the "Mosk Pass," and the Elkhanee, with his horse, had retired by the one leading to the "Haft Mocila;" and, from information subsequently received, I learn that they had planned a combined attack on our camp the night we marched! Indeed, the explosion of their magazines gave them the first intimation of our departure, when they hastened after us in the expectation of being able to attack us on the line of march, and, possibly, create confusion and panic in the dark.

At daybreak the Persian force, amounting to between 6,000 and 7,000 men, with some guns, was discovered on our left rear (northeast of our line of march) in order of battle.

Our artillery and cavalry at once moved rapidly to the attack, supported by two lines of infantry, a third protecting the baggage. The firing of the artillery was most excellent, and did great execution; the Cavalry Brigade twice charged with great gallantry and effect, Brigadier-General CAMPBELL at the head of the Bombay Regular Cavalry Regiment, was cantered and the Cavalry charged a square, and killed nearly the whole regiment—indeed, upon the cavalry and artillery fell the whole brunt of the action, as the enemy moved away too rapidly for the Infantry to overtake them. By ten o'clock the defeat of the Persians was complete; two guns were captured, the gun ammunition, Indian upon mules, fell into our hands, and at least 100 men lay dead upon the field. The number of wounded could not be ascertained, but it must have been very large. The remainder fled in a disorganized state, generally throwing away their arms, which strewed the field in vast numbers, and nothing but the penalty of our cavalry prevented their total destruction, and the capture of their remaining guns.

The troops bivouacked for the day close to the battle-field, and at night accomplished a march of 30 miles (by another route) over a country rendered almost impassable by the heavy rain, which fell incessantly. After a rest of six hours, the greater portion of the Infantry continued their march to Bushire, which they reached before midnight; thus performing another most arduous march of 16 miles, under incessant rain, besides fighting and defeating the enemy during its progress, within the short period of 30 hours. The Cavalry and Artillery reached camp this morning.

Accompanying the dispatches of General OUTRAM, is a list of the ordnance and stores captured from the Persians; which shows how thoroughly they had prepared themselves for an assault upon the British Camp at Bushire.

The intelligence of this victory was received here with great enthusiasm, and a royal salute was immediately fired from the garrison in honor of the event. How much of a victory it really is, you can judge. The rout of the Persians at this juncture was certainly a fortunate thing for the British, as it frustrated the preparations which the Persians were making for a terrific assault upon Bushire, the result of which might have been to drive the invaders back to their ships. This is probably the last battle which will be fought between these hostile forces, for a rumor is current here, and is considered to be well founded, that the Shah of Persia, through his representative at the West, has agreed to the terms of peace dictated by England, and that the Home Government has ordered that no more troops be sent from India to the Persian Gulf. This is likely to be true; for in the event of Russia being unable or unwilling to support the Shah, he has no alternative but to submit to the terms dictated by Her Britannic Majesty. The people of India, who are sick of war taxes, will be glad to believe that they have got rid of the Persian war so early and so easily.

I mail this letter in the Overland "via Marseilles," trusting that it will reach you in advance of the newspaper mail "via Southampton," and thus give you early intelligence. There is no local news to report. The several Presidencies are quiet. Bank rates of interest remain unaltered since last mail. Freights have varied a little and may be quoted at £3 10s. @ £3 15s., for both London and Liverpool. American ships are in nearly every port on the coast.

SUPREME COURT—SECOND DISTRICT

GENERAL TERM—ROCHESTER.

Day Calendar for Monday, April 20, 1857. Nos. 56, 66, 68, 69, 70, 72, 73, 74, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—Ante 12.

Case 2625 Ante.

The cases of Alexander A. Downing vs. The New-York and New-Haven Railroad Company, and Chas. Dodge & Co. vs. The Same—were taken up and argued by Mr. Noyes for the Company, and by Mr. Lord and Mr. Butterfield for the plaintiffs.

John Graham vs. Mayor &c. of Boston.—This action was brought to recover the amount of a judgment recovered in the Superior Court of Massachusetts, and rendered in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant pleaded in bar the statute of limitations, and the plaintiff replied that the defendant was a non-resident of the State of Massachusetts at the time the cause of action accrued, and continued to be such until the commencement of this suit. The defendant demurred to the replication, and the plaintiff joined in demurrer. Mr. Graham for the plaintiff, Mr. Butler for the defendants.

The case is of some importance, as it involves the construction of a provision of the statute of Massachusetts, which declares that no person shall be sued in that State by any non-resident creditor, unless he has been a resident of that State for six months next before the commencement of the suit. The question is, whether the defendants, who were residents of Massachusetts when the cause of action accrued, but who left that State before the commencement of the suit, and have since resided in New-York, are to be considered as non-residents of Massachusetts, within the meaning of the statute. Mr. Graham argued that they were not, and Mr. Butler contended that they were.

The Court reserved its decision.

For plaintiff, Butler, Evarts, Southmayd and Mr. [illegible]

[illegible] Ante 2627 I beg to call the attention of the profession to the following letter from Mr. John Bodfish, of Chicago, which explains itself:

To the Editor of the Tribune:

SIR: I see by the papers that the Hon. Mr. Douglas has been interviewed by the Democracy of Illinois, and has declared himself in favor of the Lecompton Constitution, and that he will support it, if submitted to the people, with or without the slavery clause. Now, I am a Democrat, and have been all my life, and I am in favor of the Lecompton Constitution, and will support it, if submitted to the people, with or without the slavery clause, and I am willing to bet any man in the United States from $100 to $1,000 that Douglas will not support the Lecompton Constitution, if submitted to the people, with or without the slavery clause. Any man who will bet me will please address me at Chicago, Ill., and I will deposit the money with the Editor of the Tribune, and will abide the decision of the Editor of the Tribune.

JOHN BODFISH.

Ante 2627 I have no wish to be special. I am willing to submit to any proposition to settle the bet that is reasonable, and to which no objection can be made.

J. B.

P. S.—I will say further, that I am a Democrat of the strictest sect, and have been all my life, and I am willing to bet any man in the United States from $100 to $1,000 that Douglas will support the Lecompton Constitution, if submitted to the people, with or without the slavery clause. Any man who will bet me will please address me at Chicago, Ill., and I will deposit the money with the Editor of the Tribune, and will abide the decision of the Editor of the Tribune.

J. B.

Very courtesy and gentlemanly, your friend,

HENRY W. BELLOWS.

Ante 2627 I see no reason to alter my opinion of the propriety of declining the proposition of Mr. Bodfish. I am willing to submit to any proposition to settle the bet that is reasonable, and to which no objection can be made

Lauren—The mountain forests of Pastoria are inhabited. It is said, by Fairies, Sprites and Elves, who, like the Phantom Dancers of Germany, delight to entrap travelers into their realms and torment them with their mischievous antics. Having the power of transforming the spirits, the elves, in their malicious gambols, give life to the newly dead. Statues, rocks and trees are considered magically inhabited by spirits, and during the day they retain their fictitious existence; as the approach of night they resume their immobility.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Legislature finally adjourned on Saturday, at 10½ o'clock. Previous to adjournment the Dred Scott resolutions were passed, after being modified so as to imply that the confidence of the People in the Court of Appeals has been impeached, but not lost. The usual ceremonies and courtesies were attendant upon the breaking up of the session.

Our relations with Mexico continue to engage the attention of the Administration, and special regard is paid to the necessity of securing the Tehuantepec Isthmus for the purposes of transit. Mr. Forsyth has been instructed to undertake the negotiation of another treaty on this subject,—but difficulties have arisen in the Company which succeeded to the Garay grant, which must first be settled before any satisfactory resultcan be reached. Our Washington correspondent gives a clear and interesting statement of the past action of the two governments upon this subject.

Hon. Thomas J. D. Fuller, of Maine, has been appointed Second Auditor of the Treasury.

Next Saturday, the awards of the contracts for carrying the mails in New-York, New-England and other States, for a less period than four years, will be announced.

We have in a letter from Bombay, a report of a battle between the British and Persian troops,—which reaches us in advance of accounts by the English press. The engagement took place near Bushire, and according to the dispatches of the British Commanding General, ended in a decisive victory for the English,—the enemy losing 700 men. This probably will be the only engagement during the war, as, at the date of our correspondent's letter, news of the peace which had been concluded was looked for.

A dispatch from St. Louis states that Henry J. Adams, the Free-State candidate, has been elected Mayor of Leavenworth, Kansas, by 180 votes over all others.

The St. Louis papers contain the inaugural address of the New Mayor of that City, in which he takes strong ground in favor of free white labor for the State of Missouri.

The Schuyler frauds came before the United States Circuit Court, Saturday, on a demurrer to the jurisdiction of the Court, involving the question only whether the New-Haven Railroad Company is a citizen of Connecticut, and if so, whether it is sufficiently an inhabitant of the State to be properly brought before the Court.

The suit brought by Captain Graham against the firm of Meyer & Stucken to recover the steamers Ocean Bird, St. Lawrence, and a part of the United States, on the ground of usury in the contract between him and them, came up also in the United States Circuit Court, on a demurrer by the defendants to his complaint.

The Surrogate on Saturday continued the investigation as to the legality of Mrs. Cunningham's claim to a widow's portion of the Burdell estate. Two witnesses, Mr. Richard R. Fagg and Mrs. Catharine Stansbury, were examined. An adjournment took place until the 26th inst., when, it is likely, the case will be brought to a termination.

C. Brockman, master of the American bark J. N. Swallow, was arrested on Saturday, charged with assaulting Edwin Wilson, second mate of the said bark, with a belaying pin. He was held to bail in the sum of $750.

There were 327 deaths in the City last week—41 less than the number of the previous week. Of these 73 were men, 67 women, 147 boys, and 110 girls.

The Slavery question was under discussion in the M. E. Church Conference now in session in Brooklyn, on Saturday last. A Committee presented two reports—the majority against having anything to do with the question of Slavery, and the minority in favor of denouncing the evil everywhere at every opportunity.

A Misplaced Service of Plate.—Last Summer the grateful policemen of this City presented an elegant and costly service of silver plate to Hon. Daniel E. Sickles as a testimonial of their appreciation of his useful labors in defeating the Police bill in the State Senate. The presentation took place at Delmonico's, and a sumptuous entertainment was served up which would have caused a London policeman to open his eyes with wonder at the magnificence with which his professional brethren on this side of the Atlantic are able to entertain a friend. Mayor Wood made the presentation speech, and Mr. Sickles in returning thanks for the splendid and "wholly unexpected" testimonial which his grateful constituents had bestowed upon him, narrated in a facetious and pleasant manner, the ingenious devices by means of which he had been able to defeat the Police Bill. His Honor, the Mayor, did not neglect the opportunity to bestow his malediction upon the Bill and its concoctors. But "where be their jibes now?" Mr. Sickles has got his silver salver, pitchers, slop-basins, tea-pots and cream-pots, but the policemen and the Mayor have been utterly defeated, and, in spite of the presence of Mr. Sickles in the Senate, a Police Commission has been created which is, in all respects, a more objectionable one to his party than that which he was rewarded for defeating. We would not advise Mr. Sickles to return the service of silver to its donors, but it may not be amiss to drop a hint to other gentlemenwho that it will be the safer plan in bestowing rewards for Senatorial labors, to be sure first that the object for which they are given has been secured.

The Election of Judges.

The tendency of recent legislation at Albany has been to restore to the Governor many of the privileges and "perquisites" of which the rigorous operation of the principle of popular sovereignty in late years had deprived him. The insatiable craving of the Democracy to have all public servants—let their grade be high or low, their duties great or small—directly responsible to the people, and directly dependent upon universal suffrage for their appointment, has reduced the first executive officer of the State to a position somewhat analogous to that of the Parliament of Paris in the halcyon days of the "Grand Monarque." From being a powerful and active corporation, vested with great powers and great responsibilities, he has sunk gradually down into a mere registrar of edicts. The sovereign people hold its "bed of justice" regularly, and he kneels at its feet to hear and obey. During the Session which is just being brought to a close a disposition has been shown to clothe him with some of his ancient glories, or, in other words, to make some officials dependent upon him for the tenure of their posts, or responsible to him for the proper performance of their duties. Several important offices have been placed in his gift.

We think we may fairly take this as an indication that the public is beginning at least to doubt whether the mass of the citizens is really as good as an executive as a deliberative body; whether the work of government is so well carried on by making nearly every public servant dependent upon a majority of the votes of the whole country for the tenure of his place, as upon the approbation of a single superior; whether, in short, a million of men acting all together are competent to execute every detail of the administration of a great State. Where the line should be drawn at which the body of the citizens should cease to meddle with an Executive of their own choosing we do not propose to discuss; but we cannot help taking advantage of the ebb in the tide of popular opinion upon this subject, which seems to be just now commencing, to call attention to one result of the recent great development of the principle of Government en masse, which is mischievous and deplorable under whatever aspect we look at it, and which is gradually working greater evil. We mean, purely and simply, that if experience has shown that the Democracy of New-York are not fit to be trusted with the election of Police Commissioners, a fortiori, it is not to be trusted with the election of Judges. If it be dangerous to leave in the hands of the rowdies, short-boys, shoulder-hitters, and fillibusters of the metropolis the selection of the men to whose care our lives, limbs, and movable property are to be intrusted, it is doubly dangerous to leave in their hands the selection of the men upon whose honesty, integrity, industry and learning, not simply our lives are dependent, but the peace of families, the public morality, the public credit, and the validity of our title deeds, and in no small degree the whole future of the country. Mayors, police officers, and Commissioners of all sorts elected in this City by universal suffrage, have proved in the main unmitigated scoundrels; that our judges have not proved equally disreputable and incompetent, has certainly not been due to any virtue in the mode of their appointment, but wholly and solely to the fact, that they had to be chosen out of a small class, and that in that class the average of talent and honesty is higher than in the wider field in which the "people" finds its Woods, and its Erlings, its Connerys and O'Briens.

The Anglo-Saxon race was long supposed to be the only one which had solved the problem of creating and maintaining an independent judiciary. The English were supposed to have achieved the greatest triumph in the work of reform when they made the judge's tenure of office dependent not on the favor of the Government or of anybody else, but on his own good behavior. And so they had unquestionably. That Judge is best fitted to discharge his duties properly who has nothing to hope and nothing to fear so long as he acts conscientiously. Exactly in proportion to the inducements held out to him to pander to any particular passion or favor any particular interest, will be the likelihood of his not adhering strictly to the law and to his own conscience. It is bad enough to have a Judge's bread and dignity dependent on the approbation of a Court; it is, we think, still worse to have him act in awe of the majority. For the thousand men who under a monarchy have sufficient firmness and honesty to remain proof against the threats or seductions of the King, while they have the people at their back, there are not ten who have courage to act independently when the reins of power are in the hands of the Democracy. We care not what the form of government is, the dependence of the Judges upon anybody, great or small, is a deplorable evil.

Now the state of affairs would be bad enough if the judges held office during the good pleasure of either Governor, Legislature, or people. There is, however, enough of the quieta non movere spirit still left amongst us to make it tolerably certain that nothing save gross misconduct would rouse any one of the three into action against any functionary once appointed. The office is one for which the number of candidates must necessarily be limited; the duties are laborious, and the salary small. But we have managed to go even further than this, and to combine in the election of the men, who, we have no hesitation in saying, have more to do than any other class in the community, with infusing into the masses, not simply attachment to the law, but faith in abstract rights and justice—every possible element likely to produce corruption, servility, partiality and incompetency. In order that the office may hold out no temptation to good lawyers, we have made the salary small and its duration short. In order that the Judge may be influenced as much as possible by the passions and prejudices of the hour, and may pander to every folly of the dominant party for the time being, we oblige him to lay down his office within six years at the very furthest, and submit himself and his acts to the judgment of primary meetings, caucuses, and in fact to that of any organized rabble large or small. Having thus degraded him in his own eyes and everybody else's, we send him on the bench again, probably in salutary awe of his own crier, who has been one of his nominating Committee; and we call on Justice, blind, pure, dispassionate, fearless, to make this nonsense of a thousand intrigues, it may be of a thousand bodmas, or a thousand grog-shop keepers, her oracle and minister.

One of the natural consequences of his inferior standing in his profession is the want of all weight in his decisions. No one is satisfied with them—neither the bar nor the public, because everybody feels that he was not chosen as a good interpreter of law, but as a political partisan. The result is that appeals and new trials are multiplied ad infinitum, and a stimulus is given to litigation such as it could receive in no other way. Worse still, a spirit of uncertainty is diffused through the whole jurisprudence of the country. Nothing is settled, because no decisions are looked on as final. The most solemnly laid down principle lasts till the next election, and no longer, and the courts of justice, instead of being tribunals of Oyer and Terminer, are turned into "pits" in which the learned kennel snarl and bite for victory.

We have no desire to give these remarks any personal application. The scandals and abuses arising out of the system we condemn are too well known by everybody in the least degree conversant with the administration of justice in this City for our argument to need any illustration. It is also equally well known that there is on our bench a large number of men who adorn and dignify their position. But they are there in spite of the manner of their appointment, and by no means in consequence of it.

The City Democracy.

It seems that the Democracy of our City is not yet a "unit." The election for Sachems of the Tammany Society, which is to come off to-day, has revived the old differences in the ranks of the party, and there is danger of the internecine contest becoming almost as desperate as it was in the early days of the Pierce Administration. We give in another column a report of the unavailing efforts that were made in caucus last week to agree upon a single ticket,—but the Hard-Shells were incorrigible, and there are accordingly two tickets in the field.

In addition to the old grounds of difference, new animosities seem to have grown out of the ascendancy which Mayor Wood has been steadily gaining in the counsels of the party, and a very large section of the Democracy is evidently now quite as intent upon breaking down his influence as upon promoting the harmony and welfare of the party. The Mayor is certainly ambitious and somewhat domineering;—but we are inclined to think it will not be found so easy a matter to crush him out as many of his enemies seem to suppose. In addition to the trouble which his sagacity, energy and indomitable pluck occasion his foes, they find it exceedingly difficult to decide when he is actually dead. On several occasions they have flattered themselves that he was extinguished;—but the event has not vindicated this belief. And just at present they are themselves pretty well satisfied that he is not only alive but kicking.

We observe that one or two of the small hand-organs of the party are very savage upon the Times for distracting the Democracy by its publications touching the covert and subterranean proceedings of its various factions. We are particularly sorry if any such result has followed our disclosures. If we had supposed that the Times was specially commissioned to preserve the harmony of the Democracy, and was to be held responsible for its peace and concord, perhaps we might have somewhat more carefully suppressed revelations calculated to bring them into peril. But no such information has ever reached us; and it is certainly a little unreasonable to expect us to perform duties which we have never been notified to undertake. If Mr. Buchanan finds the News, and Citizen, and Day Book and Irish American, inadequate to the services for which they are paid, and will politely request us to take the matter in hand, we will, at all events, take it into consideration. But, until our Commission arrives, we must decline being held in any degree responsible for the harmony and union of the Democratic Party.

Meantime we shall do what we can to keep the public informed of the progress of events. Indeed since our dilapidated neighbor of the Herald has devoted itself to reorganizing the Fremont Clubs for 1860, the Times seems to be the only newspaper to which the public look for information in regard to these absorbing movements. As independent journalists, therefore, we feel it to be our duty to keep an eye upon the contest that is now going on for control of the Democratic party in this City and State.

Just at present Mr. Schell has the inside track, but appears to be embarrassed by the excessive politeness of Mayor Wood. A dispatch giving information from Washington upon this subject, which we publish in another column, presents rather a startling programme of the changes that are in contemplation at head-quarters for the adjustment of these differences. We print it just as it reached us, with some misgivings as to its reliability—and more as to the success of the movement which it reveals. On both these points, however, the public and those concerned must judge for themselves.

Our New Commissioners.

The bills just passed by the Legislature, authorizing the erection of a new City Hall and the improvement of the Central Park, have bestowed upon our office-ridden City, sixteen new names to be added to the Corporation pay-roll. There are five Commissioners to superintend the erection of the new Hall, who are to be paid five dollars a day; and the pay of the eleven gentlemen who have been elected by the Legislature to give their advice as to the kind of shrubbery which shall be put in the Park, and the style of fence with which it shall be inclosed, are to be paid for their services just what the Governor of the State may think proper to say the City shall pay them. The City itself is not allowed the privilege of having any voice in the matter, neither to name the persons who shall serve as Commissioners, nor to determine the value of their services.

Fortunately for us they are all very respectable gentlemen, and probably competent to the duties they will have to perform. But these duties are of a kind which there are hundreds of equally competent men who would be but too happy to render gratuitously. These Commissionerships are just the kind that are usually in all communities made honorary, and the rewards of which are above a pecuniary value. The bill for the improvement of the Central Park, which first passed the Assembly, did not allow any pay to the six Commissioners beyond the amount of three hundred dollars a year for actual expenses; but this was amended in the Senate so as to give the Governor of the State power to allow any compensation he might see fit to name.

We shall be greatly mistaken if Governor King decides that any pay is at all necessary for such services as the Park Commissioners will be called upon to render; and we shall be disappointed in our estimate of the character of the gentlemen themselves, if they do not refuse to take pay for doing what there are hundreds of equally competent citizens would most cheerfully do for the mere gratification of rendering a service to the public.

The Tribune on the Press.

The budding virtue of the Tribune begins to blossom. It perseveres, with more than apostolic patience, in exhorting its brethren of the Editorial profession to desist from mutual crimination and to cease from "efforts to blacken each other's reputation." We beg the Tribune to understand that we appreciate fully the justice and propriety of its sentiments on this subject, and that we are ready, at a moment's notice, to act upon them. But we should first like some guarantee against a recurrence of the rebukes with which similar suggestions on our part not long since were visited, and in the second place we should like to see the real character of the "warfare," as the Tribune styles it, between the Times and Herald, more fairly and truly stated than is done in the following paragraph from the Tribune's article:

"What we did mean was just this: The Times is accused of being a stockjobbing organ or instrument because a gentleman connected with a stockbrokers' firm in Wall-street owns some stock in that newspaper establishment, when it does not appear that this gentleman either speculates in stocks himself or exercises any control over the columns of the Times. On the other hand, the Editor Proprietor of the Herald is very cleverly and ingeniously held up to the public as having been personally engaged for months in puffing and inflating a stock bubble, since utterly exploded, when it is evident to those who know how newspapers are made that this imputation, though admirably got up, is essentially unfounded. In both these cases, facts and appearances are artfully wielded to create a false impression; and this is but one of many instances in which journals are employed to damage the reputation of each other's conductors, and thus to lower the general standing and influence of journalism."

The Tribune will excuse us for saying that it mistakes entirely the gravamen of the "imputations" upon the Herald. Whether the Editor and Proprietor of that sheet personally puffed and inflated these swindling stock bubbles or not, is a matter of not the slightest consequence to any human being but himself, and one which nothing but his own personal statements have ever raised. But that the Herald itself has been used by somebody, month after month, and year after year, to inflate swindling stocks of every kind—that it has puffed into notice and favor scrip which never was worth a single dollar—that it has given place day after day, and week after week, for months and years in succession, to false statements concerning them, and to confident predictions of their future value—that it has exhorted the public who relied upon it as a disinterested public journal, to invest their money in these stocks as certain to be productive,—and that it has thus been made the instrument of cheating thousands of people out of tens and hundreds of thousands of dollars,—we have, not asserted, but proved—by column upon column of extracts from its own successive issues. This is the real "imputation" against the conduct of the Herald, and we should like to know the grounds upon which the Tribune pronounces it to be "essentially unfounded." We should like to know what apology the Tribune finds in the way "in which newspapers are made," for such a steady, systematic and successful course of fraud and deception as the Herald's own columns prove it to have pursued. Whether the Editor and Proprietor himself personally performed all this labor, or whether he employed an "amanuensis" or an assistant to do it,—or whether he was so utterly ignorant and reckless of the management of his own establishment as to permit it thus steadily to be made the instrument of the most gigantic and infamous frauds, may be a matter of some importance to him, but it is not of the least to us. If he chooses to stultify himself by first claiming the authorship of everything that appears in his columns, and then denying point blank that any stock-jobbing concern was ever recommended in them, that is his own affair, and proves nothing but his own recklessness. What the public is concerned to know is, whether the Herald is the organ and tool of swindling stock-jobbers,—or whether it is an independent and reliable public journal. All that we have done in the premises is to reprint from its own columns the material for forming an opinion upon the subject.

So much for that particular point. The Tribune should not entirely ignore the merits of a controversy which it assumes to censure. If injury to the cause of journalism results from it, we submit that it flows rather from the wrong done than from the exposure of it. Journalism is infinitely more degraded by such dishonest practices as the Herald's own columns fasten upon it, than by our reprinting the evidence which those columns afford. We trust we are not unmindful of the true dignity of the Press,—or indisposed to protect and maintain it. But we cannot defend the Press "right or wrong,"—nor do we feel bound as a journalist to excuse or conceal the impositions and the infamies by which the Herald disgraces and degrades the profession to which it belongs.

Troubled for an Issue.—An election is coming off in Virginia soon, and in default of all other issues the old one concerning the distribution of the proceeds of the Public Lands among the States has been revived, and is contested with the usual vehemence and party abuse. A goodly portion of the people of the Old Dominion seem at last to be actually aware of the wretched condition into which the State is falling. But instead of looking to themselves for relief, or canvassing the best methods of reforming the evils which oppress them, they look to the Federal Treasury for help, and call for money from that quarter.

The National Intelligencer takes occasion to read them rather a sharp lesson on this point from their past experience. In the time of Henry Clay, it reminds them, this same policy of Land Distribution was urged as an act of justice to the several States; but it was uniformly opposed and finally defeated by the State of Virginia. Since that time the West has grown powerful enough to seize this great source of revenue for herself. Her weight in

You are right in refusing to regard the recent adjournment of the Oyer and Terminer as a "Joke." It affects the administration of justice and the public respect for it, far too seriously, to be treated lightly.

During the three years prior to 1857, during which the Judge, who perpetrated this "joke" has had a seat on the bench, there have been found in this county forty-four indictments for murder, and not one conviction in the Oyer and Terminer, and only one in the Sessions. During the previous three years, before he went on the bench, there were twenty-nine indictments for murder in this county, and several convictions in the Oyer and Terminer.

It becomes, therefore, a pretty serious matter that our highest Criminal Court should be trifled with.

Until April, 1855, the power of trying cases, punishable with death, was vested solely in the Oyer and Terminer. By law there are to be at least two terms of the Oyer and Terminer in each County in the State, which are to be held at the same time and place, and be commenced on the same day, with the Circuit.

The times of holding these Courts are to be appointed by the Judges in each District every two years, within one month of the expiration of the preceding two years.

Under this law, in the latter part of 1855, the Judges of this District appointed their Courts for 1856 and 1857, and appointed two Courts of Oyer and Terminer to be held at the same time and place with the Circuits in April and October.

The Judges, for their own convenience, make assignments of each other to different duties, and in this manner Judge Roosevelt was assigned to hold the Circuit and Oyer and Terminer for this month of April, and Judge Davies had his vacation during this month.

In like manner Judge Davies was assigned to the special term in June, and Judge Roosevelt had his vacation that month.

For their own accommodation these two Judges exchanged work, Judge D. took Judge R's. Court for this month, and Judge R. took Judge D's. Court for June.

After this exchange had been made, the counsel of Eckel and Mrs. Cunningham applied to have their indictments removed to and tried in the Oyer and Terminer. They had a right to this under the statute—it would have been cruel to have denied it, and the application was very properly made to the Judge who was to hold the Oyer and Terminer. It would have been indecorous for any other Judge to have interfered.

The application was made and granted, and a day in April assigned for the trial.

After that was done, and without any notice to Judge Davies, and a few minutes before that Judge took his seat on the bench of the Circuit and Oyer and Terminer, Judge Roosevelt went into another room, taking the crier and clerk of the Oyer and Terminer with him, and without opening or interfering with the Circuit, opened the Oyer and Terminer and adjourned it till May, beyond the day in April which had been assigned for this trial.

In May, Judge Roosevelt has his vacation, and Judge Davies is assigned to the Circuit, so that when the day comes to which the Oyer and Terminer has been thus adjourned, Judge D. will hold a Circuit which has not been appointed for an Oyer and Terminer, and the Circuit for which it was appointed will have adjourned. Thus while the law directs the two courts to be held together, they are severed in fact.

Besides, the jury drawn and summoned for the Oyer and Terminer in April, will have served out their term, and have been discharged, so that the proper jury for the Oyer and Terminer will not be on hand and some other panel must be used. What one?

These are the facts of the case, as I understand, and any one with half an eye, can see how void and useless would be a trial and conviction under the circumstances.

The Evening Post says that the same game was played with Judge Strong in the Baker case. I have always suspected from the manner of Baker's counsel on his trial, that they were aware that his conviction under the circumstances would not have been worth a straw.

Now, what is to be done? The District Attorney surely will not hazard a trial at a court to which such serious objections of irregularity attach, and that, when the prisoners need not make their objections on that account until after conviction. There is no other Oyer and Terminer until October, not even to the extent of remanding the case to the Court of Sessions, and the prisoners must remain untried until October.

But must they remain in prison or be discharged? We have a statute which declares that if any prisoner, indicted for any offence triable in the Court of General Sessions and committed to prison, whose trial shall not have been postponed at his instance, shall not be brought to trial before the end of the next term of the Court after each indictment found, &c., shall be entitled to be discharged so far as relates to the offence for which he was committed.

There is, to be sure, a remedy, and only one: and that is to have a Special Oyer and Terminer appointed. That may be done by the Governor, and he ought at once to be called upon to exercise the power, to avoid the unhappy alternative of either having the prisoners tried at a court liable to just exceptions or having them discharged from custody or unnecessarily detained from April till October in close confinement.

Such is the case to which your inquiries refer, and all can judge how far it was well thus to complicate the administration of justice. Jus.

The above response to our inquiries in the Times of Saturday comes from a source at once highly respectable and well informed. Its clear and simple statement of the facts renders unnecessary any comment upon the transaction to which it refers. The suggestion with which it closes, as to the course by which the serious inconvenience which Judge Roosevelt's proceeding is likely to cause, may be avoided, merits attention on the part of Governor King. We believe we express the sentiment of the ablest members of the Bar when we say, that the trial of the parties indicted for the murder of Dr. Burdell is one which, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, demands the services of some one as presiding Judge whose reading and experience have made him especially familiar with criminal jurisprudence.

Theatrical Morals.—We have witnessed the meeting of a good many extremes, but never one of a more remarkable character than that which is presented in the correspondence which we publish this morning, between Rev. Dr. Bellows of All Souls' Church, in this City, and certain members of the theatrical profession. The Stage and the Pulpit meet on the most friendly terms, recognize each other as co-laborers in the service of morality, and exchange sentiments of mutual good will and respect. And Dr. Bellows, too, is a clergy-

[illegible] sion of New-England, in some parts of which the theatre is still proscribed by the laws as an institution dangerous to society. It would not surprise us to hear next that Plymouth Rock had broken out in a series of vaudevilles, like the statue of Memnon, or that the ghosts of the Pilgrim Fathers had been seen in attendance upon some of the criminal trials now in progress in our Courts.

[illegible] patronizing manner [illegible] plate, costing a thousand dollars. But he very properly declined so unusual a compliment, and the correspondence which grew out of the affair has led to his acceptance of an invitation to be present at the annual dinner of the so-called American Dramatic Fund Association this evening, and his engagement to deliver a lecture to actors and actresses, on the duties and responsibilities of their profession, some time during the present week.

We must confess that we are very glad to hear of this movement, for we think that it cannot be productive of any harm, while it will be the means of accomplishing considerable good. The stage is an established institution among us, and its existence is doubtless a necessity in our large towns and cities; and since the Law permits it, and many good people habitually frequent its representations, the true duty of religious teachers is to improve it and render it as little injurious to the public morals as possible.

To avoid the theatre, and to denounce its professors and patrons, is only to compel it to take a position of antagonism to religion, instead of rendering it harmless, if not actually beneficial, by recognising its members as entitled to the same consideration and support which are given to all other men who contribute to the amusement and instruction of society.

That the stage has been terribly vicious in times past, and its members loose and immoral as a class, cannot be denied; nor can it be denied that the tone of the stage, and the morals of its members, have both greatly improved within a few years. The fact that Dr. Bellows addresses a member of the Bowery Theatre as his personal friend, and a member of his church of All Souls, will, probably, surprise a good many excellent people; but we know there are many members of the theatrical profession who enjoy a high social position, and who are received into society the same as members of the learned professions, or men distinguished for their eminence in the business world. They are, however, exceptional cases; the majority of actors and actresses are still, and mainly from their own fault, living under the ban which has so long rested on their calling.

A fast man.—Mr. John Oxnard, of New-Orleans, left his creditors in the lurch and went to Havana a few days ago, taking $60,000 in exchange and promissory notes, obtained from various parties, and furnishing in exchange worthless drafts. He left behind him a consolatory letter for the swindled parties, assuring them of ultimate payment—the matter being merely a question of time—and that they could better afford to lie out of the money than personal friends to whom he was indebted, and whom to pay is a matter of honor to pay. The True Delta says: "Col. John Oxnard kept fine and fast horses, splendid and fashionable women, lived high, and played high at the clubs and gambling saloons, and was, in the highest sense of the term, a fast man."

The late Prof. Bailey, of West Point, bequeathed to the Boston Society of Natural History his whole microscopic collection, mounted in books, with an index volume, his collection of Algæ or Sea-weeds, his rough material for microscopic research, including his cabinet of minute fossil animal and vegetable forms, together with his microscopic memoranda and unpublished papers, and his very valuable library of microscopic and botanical works,—among them Ehrenberg's great work on Micro geology.

Science receives many recruits from the Lawrence Scientific School at Cambridge. The following appointments of graduates from that institution are noticed:—Edward F. R. Orton, to be Professor of the Natural Sciences in the State Normal School, Albany, N. Y.; Washington Caruthers Kerr, Professor of Chemistry in Davidson College, N. C.; L. R. Fisher, Professor of Chemistry in the Agricultural College at Lansing, Mich.; and Dr. Isaac D. Fisher to be Chemist of Dunnell's Print Works, Pawtucket, R. I.

A New-York correspondent of the Boston Post exposes the tricks of literary Bohemians, who live about New-York swindling book publishers; getting books on premise of notice, and selling them afterwards to second-hand dealers. One man went to a distinguished publisher here, and made such a representation as induced the publisher to give him a copy of a valuable work, in several octavo volumes, ten days before it was published. Two days after he saw the identical copy exposed for sale at a depôt of second-hand books.

Rev. T. W. Higginson, a reformatory clergyman down East, who is prominent at women's rights and anti-slavery meetings, in New York and elsewhere, has come to the defence of Mr. Willis, the young gentleman whose matrimonship was distasteful to the Faculty of Harvard. He makes affidavit (in Worcester) that Mr. Willis is not a humbug, and details sundry remarkable spiritual manifestations which he himself saw, and all of which he devoutly believes.

Liszt, the pianist, instead of becoming a Trappist, is now writing the music of a legend of St. Elizabeth; he is thinking over a symphony entitled "La Bataille de Huns;" he has just finished "Il Idal," in honor of Schiller, and is writing, moreover, a mass, a legend, a cantata, the Sermon on the Mount, an oratorio, "Christ," and music for a poem by Frederick Ruckert.

Private letters received in Boston from Mr. Charles Sumner state that he is recovering. He says that exertion fatigues him, but does not affect the brain. The throbbing of the head which followed exercise has ceased, and he now anticipates a speedy restoration to health.

MEDICAL.

ROMAN EYE BALSAM.

This is truly an invaluable discovery for the preservation and cure of Diseases of the Eyes. Inflamed, Sore, Weak eyes are relieved almost instantly, and many chronic inflammatory symptoms are speedily cured by it when ordinary means fail to cure. There are few persons who do not require it in some form or other, and there are few to whom it would not be beneficial. Therefore all persons it is important to know that so safe and certain a remedy can always be had.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA

For purifying the Blood. This is a purely vegetable extract, and although speedy in its operation, contains no powerful drastic drug to debilitate the system, or mineral poison to injure the constitution. Thousands have been cured by it, and tens of thousands may be restored to health by its use.

J. R. STAFFORD'S OLIVE TAR.—WE COPY of the following from the editorial columns of the Boston Daily Ledger, of Feb. 19, 1857. Mr. Barnard, the gentleman alluded to, is a prominent citizen of Boston:

J. R. STAFFORD'S OLIVE TAR.—In the multitude of ourselves that are almost daily offered to the public, it is very difficult to make a selection of any one that will prove valuable for all the purposes for which it is recommended. But in our previous ONE specific has been discovered for complaints of the Throat and Lungs that seems to be of unfailable worth. We refer to J. R. STAFFORD'S OLIVE TAR. From a pamphlet setting forth its many claims on those inflicted with the diseases above named, we learn that this Remedy is not to be taken internally, after the ordinary methods, but is used by INHALATION and APPLICATION. In this subtle way it performs the soothing and healing offices on the TENDER Larynx, Mucous membrane, Lungs, and Gems. GIVES RELIEF. It is claimed, therefore, on these premises, that it has a controlling power, which is capable of restoring by the system its lost VITALITY; and this is performed solely by the inhalation of its odor, and the outward application of its fluid. Several of our Physicians even employ it for personal use, and in cases of Bronchial difficulties they prefer it to all other remedies. We know of many cures it has performed in cases of Bronchial difficulties in this City, and can recommend it as a healthy character, and we are able to point to certificates of its virtues.

We are informed by our fellow-citizen, John M. Barnard, Esq., that during a fit of sickness last Winter, he had occasion to make use of the OLIVE TAR, and found it even more efficacious than he had expected, or assert. He caused about three table spoonfuls to be placed in a saucer, over a basin of boiling water, heated by a night-lamp, and found that its odor was not only a real DISINFECTANT of the sick room, but a most pleasant soother of the irritation of his Throat and Lungs. He improved immediately in his health, and will now use the OLIVE TAR on occasion may require, in the resolve of his furnace, satisfied that its portable odor is of great service in rendering the atmosphere of his house both sweet and healthy at all times."

The above assertions are also fully verified by Testimonials from the following well-known persons:

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over 1,100 cases, and never failed, except in two cases, both thunder humor. He has now in his possession over 250 certificates of its virtues, all within 30 miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the eyes and blindness among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another, after a trial. It always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appear to me surprising—first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1848; second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day. In April, 1854, I sold over a thousand bottles per day.

No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over 8 years, dessert spoonful; children from 5 to 8 years, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

MR. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of Scrofula.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Celebration of the Jubilee Week.

A meeting of the delegates from the various subordinate bodies, meeting under the jurisdiction of St. John's Grand Lodge, F. and A. M., of the State of New-York, was held at Military Hall, Bowery, on Saturday evening, to complete the arrangements for the celebration of the natal day of their patron saint, John the Baptist. R. W. JOHN H. HOWE, J. G. W., in the Chair. There was a large attendance of delegates and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Arrangements were made for holding a festival at the Astor House on the evening of the 24th of June, putting the tickets at $5 each. Hon. JOHN WARNER, of Staats Eights' Lodge No. 6, will be invited to preside. This will be the first festival held by St. John's Grand Lodge since its reorganization in 1849. More than three hundred tickets were disposed of upon the spot.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

Another Homicide—Arrest of a Colored Man charged with causing the Death of a German in Centre-street—Amalgamation.

Notice was given at the Sixth Ward Station-House yesterday afternoon, that a murder had taken place at No. 38 Centre-street. Captain Dowling proceeded to the place named, where he found a man named John Peters, aged some 45 years, lying dead in a bed, about which a crowd of blacks and whites was standing. There were no external marks of violence on the body. In response to his inquiries, the Captain was informed that Peters was an inmate of the place where his body was then lying; that he lived there with his wife, (a white woman,) whose name was supposed to be a colored man, named Frederick Francis, who, with his wife and some others, also resided there. They were all disturbed and detained during the night by the noise and disorder. On Saturday evening, Peters and Francis, both being very drunk at the time, got into an altercation, which was struck Mrs. Francis, (the husband, himself, can be almost acknowledged,) and shoved Peters away and down upon the bed. Peters soon afterwards again assailed the woman Francis, whereupon her husband again interfered, and seizing the drunken man roughly pushed him down upon on the bed, with some force, and kicked him. Peters then lay quiet, and soon afterwards it was found he was dead.

Francis and his wife, the wife of the deceased and three others, inmates of the den, were at once arrested, and notice of the affair sent to Coroner GAMBLE, who ordered the body to be removed to the Station-House, where an inquest will be held upon it this forenoon.

The prisoners were committed to the Tombs.

The negro Peters is about 44 years of age. The police says he is a bad fellow. He came from New-Orleans, but has lived in this City, in the Sixth-Ward, a great many years. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the Penitentiary about a year since for shoplifting.

Drs. Wells and Dunnell made a post mortem examination of the body last night. They found nearly all the organs badly diseased, particularly the lungs, and the brain softened from great intemperance.

ATROCIOUS OUTRAGE IN THE FOURTH WARD BY AN ESCAPED CALIFORNIAN.

Jim White, a notorious ruffian, who was expelled from California by the San Francisco Vigilance Committee,—and who, immediately on his return to this City, was arrested on a charge of robbing a female passenger on board the steamship that conveyed him hither,—committed, on last Sunday night week, a most atrocious and daring outrage upon the person of a little girl named Margaret Heany, in the house No. 39 Oak-street, where she is employed as servant to Mr. Thomas Reeves, one of the occupants.

For good and proper reasons, the affair has been kept quiet until the present time. The circumstances of the case are as follows:

Margaret, who is about 15 years of age, was sent of an errand, about 9 o'clock on the night in question. White saw her going, and when within a short distance of her residence, she was accosted by White, who, after one or two complimentary remarks and words of flattery, invited her to take a walk with him the next evening. Never having seen the fellow before, and becoming frightened at his manner, she left him and entered her house. Shortly after, she retired to bed, and fell asleep.

The other members of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves, and their daughter Sheehan, (Andrew Sheehan, a boarder, also occupies a portion of the premises,) were slightly acquainted with him, and had no suspicion of the unscrupulous character of the villain. He sat down, conversed with them for a time, and on being informed of Margaret's absence, and for it being supposition that she had gone to bed, he went to the latter, and the door of her room was closed.

It was about 11 o'clock.

The house stands in a back room on the first floor, and has two dining rooms—one used night and the other with the girl Margaret in a front room on the second floor. About 2 o'clock in the morning Mr. Reeves was awakened by loud and pierc ing shrieks from the floor on which his children slept. He hastily arose. His first thought was that some of the children might have dropped a match and set fire to the carpet or their bedding. He proceeded hastily up stairs without waiting for a light. On reaching the second floor he met a man coming out of the room in which the children slept. The man spoke, and Mr. Reeves concluded from its sound that it was that of Mr. Sheehan. He ceased, therefore, to be further alarmed, for he knew that Mr. Sheehan was at times, in consequence of an injury received on his head, partially insane, and had in consequence on more than one occasion wandered through the house, from room to room. He therefore bid Margaret and the children to be quiet, and addressing himself to the man, said:

"Andy, what is the matter; does your head trouble you again?"

"Oh, it does, very badly; put some water on it," was the reply.

Mr. Reeves then said—"Come this way Andy, till I get some water," and groped his way to the basement, where there was Croton water.

The man followed after, pressing his head the while, and exclaiming, "oh, Mr. Reeves, my head, my head!"

When in the basement Mr. Reeves lit a candle, when to his great astonishment and indignation he discovered the man not to be Mr. Sheehan, as he had supposed, but the notorious Jim White.

"What brings you here, you ruffian!" he angrily exclaimed.

White mumbled something in reply and said—"Oh don't say a word,—put out the light—put out the light!"

This request to put out the light White repeated several times, but Mr. Reeves seeing no possible reason for the demand, refused to do so.

White was finally, with much difficulty, expelled from the house. In the meantime the rest of the family were aroused, and as the girl, Margaret, and the other children, still continued to cry loudly, Mr. Reeves went to his room to pacify them, even then correctly suspecting that White had done anything other than entering a neighbor's house to sleep by means of a borrowed night key while half crazy and desperate with rum.

Though Margaret would not be pacified, and expressed herself so strangely that Mrs. Reeves and Sheehan were left alone with her, and to these latter she stated that Mr. Sheehan had stolen stealthily into her room and attempted to outrage her person, and that because she resisted and screamed so he had a chair and threatened to kill her. She said she knew the man who entered her room was Mr. Sheehan; she knew him by his voice, "which was exactly like mine," and it was a long time before she was convinced that she was mistaken.

The true state of affairs then appeared. White had entered the house for the purpose of outraging the girl Margaret, and the better to succeed in his design had imitated the voice of Mr. Sheehan so well as to deceive not only the girl, but even Mr. Reeves. The accomplished knave, too, the fact of Mr. Sheehan's temporary obfuscation of mind at times, and adroitly made use of this knowledge to deceive.

The above statement of the case gives strength to the belief that, had Mr. Reeves, when in the basement, not put out the light as so earnestly requested, he would have been murdered by White, that his other victim might not be known.

An examination underwent after, proved that WHITE effected an entrance into the house by forcing open a basement window.

The person of the girl Margaret was found to be much bruised, but she otherwise escaped harm by her determined resistance and loud screams for assistance.

An affidavit embracing the above facts was made on Tuesday before Justice CORNELLY, who issued a warrant for White's arrest, and placed it in the hands of Officer RYAN, but as yet the scoundrel has not been found. He has fled his old haunts.

White is about 35 years of age of short and stout build. His hair is of a reddish color and bushy, and his face without whiskers. He has a most villainous countenance.

THE ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO LIBERATE HUNTINGDON.

The man, John Scotchard, alias Fraser, alias Jas. R. Gross, &c., &c., who was arrested the other day on a charge of attempting to effect the liberation of Huntington, the forger, from Sing Sing, was further examined, on Saturday before Justice CORNELLY. Jane Hamilton, the wife of the prisoner, was examined, but no revelations of importance could be elicited from her. Officer Lord, who made the arrest, testified to searching the baggage of the prisoner and his wife, and subscribed some very mysterious letters which he found. It appears that Scotchard has been traveling lately through the South, riding on horseback, and living on his chirographic wits.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Habitual constipation predisposes the system to receive infection, vitiates the breath, and renders the whole body impure. More purgatives aggravate the disease and impair the strength of the sufferer. This remedy, on the contrary, permanently regulates the excretive function, and lends vigor to the frame while it purifies the animal fluids.

LONG ISLAND.

A Decision Reversed.

Judge BERGEN, in a decision a few days ago, sustained the Auditor of Brooklyn, who refused to audit the salary of the Foreman of Repairs and Supplies, upon the ground that the incumbent, Mr. URBAN, had drawn pay from the City Treasury as Assessor of the Seventh Ward, and could not hold two offices at the same time. The case was argued on a peremptory mandamus to compel the Auditor to pass the bill, and was carried up to the General Term at Poughkeepsie, where, on Saturday, the mandamus was granted, thus reversing the decision of Judge BERGEN.

Dedication.

The South Congregational Church, Brooklyn, recently erected at the corner of Court and President streets, was dedicated yesterday.

Brutality.

A man named ROBERT BARR, was arrested in Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, by the police of the First District, for striking and kicking a female on the public street, while she was proceeding to market, and without any provocation.

New-York East Methodist Conference.

The Conference had the fourth day of its session on Saturday.

After the reading of the minutes of the meeting previous, a communication was presented from JOHN T. HILDEBURN in reference to and against the use of tobacco among clergymen and members of churches. The document was read, but it was so disrespectful in its language that the writer was given permission to withdraw it.

The following resolutions from the Committee on Slavery were presented and read:

SLAVERY—Majority Report.—The Committee on Slavery beg leave to present the following resolutions for adoption by the Conference.

Resolved, That we regard Slavery as a great moral and social evil, a violation of the natural rights of man, and opposed to the spirit and progress of the Christian Religion.

Resolved, That we will use what influence we possess to prevent its extension into regions and communities in which it does not at present exist, and will use all means that may with propriety be used by Christian ministers, to effect its extirpation from the world.

CHAS FLETCHER.
H. HUSTED.
F. B. CHANDLER.

Minority report.—The following was offered as a substitute:

Resolved, That we regard Slavery as a great evil, threatening the peace and prosperity of this republic—the permanence of the Union—and the stability of the Government.

Resolved, That the M. E. Church has been strong [illegible]

Resolved, That the action had by the late General Conference of the Church on the question of Slavery, does not in any sense express the sentiments of the Church, but is a forcible example to the abuse of giving [illegible] power in all her borders.

Resolved, That while we are opposed to Slavery, and have no sympathy with the institution, at the same time we are equally opposed to the radical measures and principles pursued by many of the anti-slavery agitators of the slave for his emancipation, and that we have no sympathy whatever with their revolutionary movements.

Resolved, That as ministers of the Gospel we will do what we can, not inconsistent with our calling for the extirpation of the great evil of Slavery. And that while we endeavor "to break every yoke" and let the oppressed go free" we will pray for the master and slave, as well as for Zion, and all those who are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all Godliness and honesty.

CHARLES GROVE.

A lively discussion ensued.

NEW-JERSEY.

The State Fair.

The Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society, after receiving proposals from Jersey City, Trenton and Hoboken, have selected New-Brunswick as the place for holding the next State Agricultural Fair, to open on Tuesday, Sept. 29, and continue four days. A plot of ground offered by Hon. JAMES PARKER, one mile from the city, will be occupied. In the centre of the plot is a fine spring.

INSTALLED.—Rev. Dr. DAVID H. RIDDLE was installed last evening as pastor of the First Reformed Dutch Church of Jersey City. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. MCCRON, formerly pastor of that Church. The charge to the pastor was delivered by Rev. Dr. B. C. TAYLOR, and the charge to the people by Rev. P. D. VAN CLEEF. There was a large congregation present to witness the interesting ceremony.

FOUND DEAD.—Mrs. JENNINGS, wife of S. JENNINGS, butcher, at No. 92 Newark-avenue, Jersey City, was found dead in her bed on Saturday morning last. The cause of her death was apoplexy.
